Attract more people, serve everyone

Manage quality, cost and revenue effectively

Improve individual and community health through innovation, alignment and partnership

A Message from Kevin J. Sexton, President and CEO, Holy Cross Health

January 2015

Dear Holy Cross Health Employees, Medical and Dental Staff, and Volunteers:

I am pleased to share with you Holy Cross Health's strategic plan for fiscal 2015 through 2018.

The grand opening of Holy Cross Germantown Hospital marks the beginning of a new chapter in our long and successful history of serving as the most trusted health care provider in our community. As in the past, we continue to be guided by our faith-based mission and our focus on anticipating and proactively meeting the diverse health care needs of the communities we serve. We will continue our legacy of success by providing the highest quality of care to our patients, delivering the greatest benefit to our community, performing well fiscally and engaging and retaining an exceptional workforce.

As a Catholic, not-for-profit health system comprised of two hospitals, multiple health centers, and services throughout the community, our goal is to provide integrated, high-quality, sustainable health care services accessible to all.

The health care environment is changing significantly due to insurance coverage expansion throughout the nation, payment reform in the state of Maryland and the aging of the population we serve. The changes to the payment system in Maryland have introduced a new model of how hospitals get paid that is unique in the nation, which will require improvements in hospital efficiency and resource management, and an increased focus on disease prevention and management. We continue to anticipate the future and to respond proactively to changes in the health care environment, and we are proud to play a leading role in the development of improved health care delivery in Maryland.

Holy Cross Health has a long and successful record of setting strategic goals and meeting our planning objectives. In opening Holy Cross Germantown Hospital, we achieved our goal of positioning Holy Cross Health to meet the growing health care needs of northern Montgomery County, including the increased demand for hospital and senior care that is anticipated to result from the aging of the baby boom generation. The opening of the new hospital, the ongoing expansion of Holy Cross Hospital, the opening of a new health center in Germantown in 2015, and the growing services and partnerships offered by the Holy Cross Health Network are tremendous contributions to improving the health of the communities we serve that we can all take great pride in.

I am profoundly appreciative of your continued commitment to Holy Cross Health and the skills, spirit of excellence and service that each and every one of you brings to your patients and colleagues in your valuable and valued role. I look forward to working with you as together we implement this strategic plan and build upon our history of success.

Sincerely,

We Are Holy Cross Health

Holy Cross Health is a Catholic, not-for-profit health system that is dedicated to improving access to care and the health of our communities.

Through the earned trust of the people we serve, we have grown from a single hospital into a system of connected hospitals, health centers, community outreach programs, education and support programs, and specialized care centers in locations throughout Montgomery County.

Our abiding mission commitment, backed by solid operations and generous donor contributions, has allowed Holy Cross Health to become the largest safety-net provider in the region, and the only health system in Montgomery County to operate its own health centers for those who face financial barriers to accessing medical care.

Holy Cross Health earns national awards for clinical quality and is the only health care provider in Maryland to have received the Workplace Excellence Seal of Approval Award from the Alliance for Workplace Excellence every year since 1999.

Holy Cross Health includes:

Holy Cross Hospital: One of the largest hospitals in Maryland, and the only four-time winner of The Joint Commission's highest quality award in the Washington, D.C., Metro region and Maryland.

Holy Cross Germantown Hospital: The first new hospital in Montgomery County in 35 years responds to the need for health services in the fastest growing region in the county, and provides training opportunities for future health care workers.

Holy Cross Health Network: Operates three Holy Cross Health Centers; provides extensive community health outreach, education and screening programs; and engages physicians, insurers and community-based organizations in improving care.

Holy Cross Health Foundation: A not-for-profit organization devoted to raising philanthropic funds to support the mission of Holy Cross Health and to improve the health of our communities.

Vision for 2015–2018

In response to our mission and the significant environmental forces of payment reform, coverage expansion and aging, we have created a vision that is a concise statement of how we see future success.

Working with physicians, other providers and insurers, and staffed by an engaged workforce committed to excellence, Holy Cross Health will develop a sustainable regional health system that is chosen most often by people in our area to effectively provide and manage their care and assist them in improving their health.

This vision is manifested in three strategic principles that are particularly responsive to the incentives created by the new Medicare waiver: attract more people, serve everyone; effectively manage quality, costs and revenue; and improve individual and community health through innovation, alignment and partnership.

Over the next several years, Holy Cross Health will continue to grow by attracting more people. In the past, our primary measure of growth was an increase in inpatient market share. Going forward, we will want more people to choose us as their health care provider, but increased inpatient volume is not our objective. Rather, we will seek to increase the number of people who look to us for care.

However, a growth in number of people we care for cannot be accompanied by a proportional increase in hospital spending. The cap on per capita growth requires that Holy Cross Health become more effective in managing costs and ensuring we capture all of the revenue to which we are entitled. While outstanding performance in cost management is critical, it must be supplemented by improving the ways that care is delivered, and the goals of health care providers must shift to better health. We need better coordination both within the hospital and in the community, and greater health literacy if we are to serve those in need while controlling the aggregate growth in health care spending.

Economic and Demographic Context

When Holy Cross Health entered this strategic plan cycle in 2014, it became necessary to prepare for the changes to health care reimbursement in Maryland brought about by the Affordable Care Act, and the anticipated increase in demand for hospital care by our aging population. The accelerating growth rate of people 65 years and older is continuing as projected, and will drive the need for modest expansion of hospital services.

Since 2014, hundreds of thousands of Marylanders have enrolled in health insurance coverage under the Affordable Care Act, tens of thousands have enrolled in private coverage through Maryland Health Connection, and there has been a nearly 70% net increase in Medicaid enrollment. Additionally, stricter cost control goals in Maryland have brought far more dramatic changes to our payment models than are currently in effect nationally.

Maryland's Medicare waiver has shifted from a requirement to control the growth in spending of Medicare cost per admission, to a requirement to control per capita hospital (inpatient and outpatient) spending for everyone. The rate of annual increase to that dollar amount is determined by the growth rate of the state's economy averaged over the previous ten years. In 2014 that ten year average was 3.58%. The expectation is that by changing the incentive structure so that hospitals are rewarded for caring for populations more efficiently, rather than for the amount of procedures they perform, health care spending will slow while patient care improves.

Achieving these lower spending rates will be extremely challenging. Between 1966 and today, health care as a percent of the Gross Domestic Product has increased from approximately 6% to 18%, growing three times the rate of the economy as a whole. During the past ten years, hospital spending growth has fallen below the current 3.58% target only three times. Meeting this waiver test will require significant improvements in hospital efficiency and use management through internal initiatives and working closely with physicians and other community partners. This is our strategic objective moving forward.

The opening of Holy Cross Germantown Hospital in October 2014, together with the opening of the new patient care building at Holy Cross Hospital in fall 2015, give us ample reason to be optimistic. With our two hospitals and three existing health centers (and a health center in Germantown opening in 2015), Holy Cross Health offers the best, most comprehensive and integrated health coverage in Montgomery County compared to any local health system. This positions us well to serve this growing market effectively and efficiently.
